C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Davis Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. At South Hall the pupils in German have the same kind of practice under the guidance of their teacher, a graduate of Vassar College who has studied in Germany.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the entire Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic piano Recitals by the best artists.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. The Trustees have lately imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurements to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies from abroad can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at some one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

BOARD.

Board, at any one of our Halls, including fuel, lights, and washing (ten pieces per week, without starching), and seat in church, is $246.00 per year.

This is divided between the three terms as follows: Fall Term, sixteen weeks, $100; Winter Term, eleven weeks, $70; Summer Term, twelve weeks, $76. No extras.

The regular tuition is required from every scholar entering the school, and the whole tuition bill, and one half the bill for board, are to be paid in advance, the remainder ten days before the close of each term.

No deduction for tuition will be made on account of absence. For protracted absence on account of sickness, one-half the bill for board during that time will be deducted, but no deduction will be made for less than three weeks continuous absence, except that in case a scholar remains in the school less than half of any term she will be charged at the advanced rate of $12.00 per week for the time of her connection with the school.

Checks in payment of bills should be made payable to the Treasurer.

Each young lady furnishes her own towels, and table-napkins, and should come provided with a gymnastic suit, thick shoes, rubbers, water-proof, and umbrella.

In providing a carpet, room-mates will arrange as is most convenient to themselves.

Every article of clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name.

Dentistry should be attended to during vacation.

The Teachers will gladly second parents in securing that simplicity of dress which becomes school-girls.

Eatables, with the exception of fruit, sent to members of the school by parents and friends are not the favor intended. The effect is wholly evil; and friends are, therefore, earnestly requested to refrain from this mistaken kindness.

ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION.

All past members of the school, teachers and pupils, are cordially invited to join the Alumnae Association. Membership is gained by payment of the initiation fee, $5.00, which may be done at once, or by instalments within five years. This body-guard helps the school not only by a sentiment of loyalty, but very practically, as the interest of its funds is devoted to procuring books and means of illustration in the class-room. Application for admission to membership may be made to Mrs. Selah Merrill, Treasurer of the Association.

ANNUAL READINGS.

Since 1868, a public Reading has been annually given by pupils in Abbot Academy. After a test-reading, the school elect ten from their own number to receive special elocutionary drill from Prof. Churchill, who instructs the whole school twice in the week during the Summer Term.

The expense of this private tuition is met by the generosity of an old scholar, Mrs. Irene Rowley Draper of Andover.

Those elected to take part in the fourteenth Annual Reading, May 31, 1881, were:

The history of Abbot Academy for the fifty years past has been written by the Misses McKeen, at the desire of the Trustees. It is a record of important incidents in the founding and the growth of the School, embodying recollections of every period, from the beginning to the present time, which have been kindly furnished by former teachers and pupils. It contains a full report of the Semi-Centennial Celebration, and is illustrated by views of the Academy buildings and grounds. Any orders for it sent to W. F. Draper, Publisher, will be promptly attended to. Price, for the edition containing eight illustrations, $3.20 ; with one illustration, $2.20, post-paid.

* By those who are studying the Latin of the Junior Middle Year, or who have studied it, or a year of Greek, a Modern Language may be substituted in place of Ancient History, Chemistry, and Geology.

C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Davis Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. At South Hall the pupils in German have the same kind of practice under the guidance of their teacher who has studied in Germany, and also of Fraülein Anna Krebs of Oppau, Reinpfalz.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the entire Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic piano Recitals by the best artists.

During the past year we have been favored by hearing Madame Schiller of New York, Mr. Carl Baermann of Munich, Messrs. Ernst Perabo, W. H. Sherwood, and Arthur Foote of Boston.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. The Trustees have lately imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurements to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies from abroad can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at some one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

No deduction for tuition will be made on account of absence. For protracted absence on account of sickness, one-half the bill for board during that time will be deducted, but no deduction will be made for less than three weeks continuous absence, except that in case a scholar remains in the school less than half of any term she will be charged at the advanced rate of $12.00 per week for the time of her connection with the school.

Checks in payment of bills should be made payable to the Treasurer.

Dentistry should be attended to during vacation.

The Teachers will gladly second parents in securing that simplicity of dress which becomes school-girls.

Eatables, with the exception of fruit, sent to members of the school by parents and friends are not the favor intended. The effect is wholly evil; and friends are, therefore, earnestly requested to refrain from this mistaken kindness.

This body-guard helps the school not only by a sentiment of loyalty, but very practically, as the interest of its funds is devoted to procuring books and means of illustration in the class-room. Application for admission to membership may be made to Miss Agnes Park, Treasurer of the Association.

ANNUAL READINGS.

Since 1868, a public Reading has been annually given by pupils in Abbot Academy. After a test-reading, the school elect ten from their own number to receive special elocutionary drill from Prof. Churchill, who instructs the whole school twice in the week during the Summer Term.

COURSE OF STUDY.

A good knowledge of English Grammar, Geography, and Arithmetic is required for admission to Abbot Academy. Applicants will please observe this fact, and come well prepared. Credentials from former teachers will be accepted in place of examinations for studies preceding the Senior Middle Year, if warranted by the scholarship of the pupil here.

The work of the Senior Middle Class is to be done here, unless excused by thorough examination.

It will be noticed that neither credentials nor examinations will be accepted for the studies of the Senior Year.

United States History, with the Constitution of the United States, Physical Geography, Mythology, Algebra, and Latin Grammar and Reader will be required as preparatory to the regular course, but may be studied in the school.

Our course of study covers four years; if music be taken, more time must evidently be allowed.

The study of the Bible, English Composition, and Reading is continued as long as one remains in school. Whether young ladies study a longer, or shorter time, their studies will be assigned according to the judgment of the Principal.

C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Davis Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. At South Hall the pupils in German have the same kind of practice under the guidance of their teacher who has studied in Germany, and also of Herr Heinrich Conrad Bierwith, Hanover, Germany.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the entire Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic piano Recitals by the best artists. During the past year we have been favored by hearing Mr. Carl Baermann of Munich, assisted by Messrs. W. Rietzel, A. De Ribas, E. Schormann, G. Dannreuther, Wulf Fries, and A. Goldstein; also Mr. Ernst Perabo, assisted by Mr. C. R. Adams.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. The Trustees have lately imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurement to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies from abroad can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at some one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

BOARD.

Board, at any one of our Halls, including fuel, lights, and washing (ten pieces per week, without starching), and seat in church, is $246 00 per year.

This is divided between the three terms as follows: Fall Term, $100; Winter Term, $70; Summer Term, $76. No extras.

The regular tuition is required from every scholar entering the school, and the whole tuition bill, and one half the bill for board, are to be paid in advance, the remainder ten days before the close of each term.

No deduction for tuition will be made on account of absence. For protracted absence on account of sickness, one-half the bill for board during that time will be deducted, but no deduction will be made for less than three weeks continuous absence, except that in case a scholar remains in the school less than half of any term she will be charged at the advanced rate of $12.00 per week for the time of her connection with the school.

Checks in payment of bills should be made payable to the Treasurer.

Each young lady furnishes her own towels, and table-napkins, and should come provided with a gymnastic suit, thick shoes, rubbers, water-proof, and umbrella.

In providing a carpet, room-mates will arrange as is most convenient to themselves.

Every article of clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name.

Dentistry should be attended to during vacation.

The Teachers will gladly second parents in securing that simplicity of dress which becomes school-girls.

Eatables, with the exception of fruit, sent to members of the school by parents and friends are not the favor intended. The effect is wholly evil; and friends are, therefore, earnestly requested to refrain from this mistaken kindness.

A general Catalogue of the Officers and Pupils of the Academy from 1829 to 1879 has been prepared. It contains the names of the teachers and pupils as far as can be learned, with the school address, the present or last known address, the names of husbands, the fact of the death of either, and in the case of pupils the date of death, if known, with other items of interest.

The Catalogue numbers over three thousand names, and makes a pamphlet of 127 pages. The price is sixty cents. Orders, with the money or postage-stamps, may be addressed to W. F. Draper, Andover, Mass.

The Abbot Courant.

The Abbot Courant is issued semi-annually by pupils in Abbot Academy. Besides original contributions from present and past members, it furnishes what is eagerly sought by old scholars, — the latest news of the school. Price, per year, sixty cents.

History of Abbot Academy.

The history of Abbot Academy for the fifty years past has been written by the Misses McKeen, at the desire of the Trustees. It is a record of important incidents in the founding and the growth of the School, embodying recollections of every period, from the beginning to the present time, which have been kindly furnished by former teachers and pupils. It contains a full report of the Semi-Centennial Celebration, and is illustrated by views of the Academy buildings and grounds. Any orders for it sent to W. F. Draper, Publisher, will be promptly attended to. Price, for the edition containing eight illustrations, $3.20; with one illustration, $2.20, post-paid.

COURSE OF STUDY.

A good knowledge of English Grammar, Geography, and Arithmetic is required for admission to Abbot Academy. Applicants will please observe this fact, and come well prepared. Credentials from former teachers will be accepted in place of examinations for studies preceding the Senior Middle Year, if warranted by the scholarship of the pupil here.

The work of the Senior Middle Class is to be done here, unless excused by thorough examination.

It will be noticed that neither credentials nor examinations will be accepted for the studies of the Senior Year.

United States History, with the Constitution of the United States, Physical Geography, Zoölogy, Algebra, and Latin Grammar and Reader will be required as preparatory to the regular course, but may be studied in the school.

Our curriculum covers four years; if music be taken, more time must evidently be allowed.

Our full course in the modern languages covers three years, and can be begun with the Fall Term of any year, though the Latin must not be superseded. The Grammar of any language is begun only in the fall.

The study of the Bible, English Composition, and Reading is continued as long as one remains in school. Whether young ladies study a longer, or shorter time, their studies will be assigned according to the judgment of the Principal.

C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Davis Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. At South Hall the pupils in German have the same kind of practice under the guidance of their teacher who has studied in Germany, and also of Prof. J. Friedrich Stein, of Saxony, who has had marked success in teaching his native language not only here, but in the various positions which he holds in Boston.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic Piano Recitals by the best artists. During the past year we have been favored by hearing Miss Amy Marcy Cheney, Herr M. Loeffler; also Mr. Arthur Foote, and Wulf Fries, all of Boston, and Prof. Carl Baermann of Munich.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. The Trustees have lately imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurements to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies from abroad can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at some one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION.

All past members of the school, teachers and pupils, are cordially invited to join the Alumnae Association. Membership is gained by payment of the initiation fee, $5.00, which may be done at once, or by instalments within five years. This body-guard helps the school not only by a sentiment of loyalty, but very practically, as the interest of its funds is devoted to procuring books and means of illustration in the class-room. Application for admission to membership may be made to Miss Agnes Park, Treasurer of the Association.

ANNUAL READINGS.

Since 1868, a public Reading has been annually given by pupils in Abbot Academy. After a test-reading, the school elect ten from their own number to receive special elocutionary drill from Prof. Churchill, who instructs the whole school twice in the week during the Summer Term.

The expense of this private tuition is met by the generosity of an old scholar, Mrs. Irene Rowley Draper of Andover.

COURSE OF STUDY.

A good knowledge of English Grammar, Geography, and Arithmetic is required for admission to Abbot Academy. Applicants will please observe this fact, and come well prepared. Credentials from former teachers will be accepted in place of examinations for studies preceding the Senior Middle Year, if warranted by the scholarship of the pupil here.

The work of the Senior Middle Class is to be done here, unless excused by thorough examination.

It will be noticed that neither credentials nor examinations will be accepted for the studies of the Senior Year.

United States History, with the Constitution of the United States, Physical Geography, Elements of Zoölogy, Algebra, and Latin Grammar and Reader will be required as preparatory to the regular course, but may be studied in the school.

Our curriculum covers four years; if music be taken, more time must evidently be allowed.

Our full course in the modern languages covers three years, and can be begun with the Fall Term of any year, though the Latin must not be superseded. The Grammar of any language is begun only in the fall.

The study of the Bible, English Composition, and Reading is continued as long as one remains in school. Whether young ladies study a longer, or shorter time, their studies will be assigned according to the judgment of the Principal.

C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Davis Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. At South Hall the pupils in German have the same kind of practice under the guidance of their teacher who has studied in Germany, and also of Prof. J. Friedrich Stein, of Saxony, who has had marked success in teaching his native language not only here, but in the various positions which he holds in Boston.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic Piano Recitals by the best artists. During the past year we have been favored by hearing Miss Amy Marcy Cheney, Mr. Lichtenberg, Mr. Perabo, Mr. Sherwood, and the Philomela Vocal Quartette.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. The Trustees have lately imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurements to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies from abroad can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at some one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

COURSE OF STUDY.

A good knowledge of English Grammar, Geography, and Arithmetic is required for admission to Abbot Academy. Applicants will please observe this fact, and come well prepared. Credentials from former teachers will be accepted in place of examinations for studies preceding the Senior Middle Year, if warranted by the scholarship of the pupil here.

The work of the Senior Middle Class is to be done here, unless excused by thorough examination.

It will be noticed that neither credentials nor examinations will be accepted for the studies of the Senior Year.

United States History, with the Constitution of the United States, Physical Geography, Elements of Zoölogy, Algebra, and Latin Grammar and Reader will be required as preparatory to the regular course, but may be studied in the school.

Our curriculum covers four years; if music be taken, more time must evidently be allowed.

Our full course in the modern languages covers three years, and can be begun with the Fall Term of any year, though the Latin must not be superseded. The Grammar of any language is begun only in the fall.

The study of the Bible, English Composition, and Reading is continued as long as one remains in school. Whether young ladies study a longer, or shorter time, their studies will be assigned according to the judgment of the Principal.

C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Davis Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. At South Hall the pupils in German have had the same kind of practice under the guidance of their teacher who has studied in Germany, and also of Prof. J. Friedrich Stein, of Saxony, who has had marked success in teaching his native language not only here, but in the various positions which he holds in Boston.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic Piano Recitals by the best artists.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. A few years ago the Trustees imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurements to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies from abroad can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at some one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

The Teachers will gladly second parents in securing that simplicity of dress which becomes school-girls.

Eatables, with the exception of fruit, sent to members of the school by parents and friends, are not the favor intended. The effect is wholly evil; and friends are therefore earnestly requested to refrain from this mistaken kindness.

Application for admission to membership may be made to Miss Agnes Park, Treasurer of the Association.

ANNUAL READINGS.

Since 1868, a public Reading has been annually given by pupils in Abbot Academy. After a test-reading, the school elect ten from their own number to receive special elocutionary drill from Prof. Churchill, who instructs the whole school twice in the week during the Summer Term.

It contains a full report of the Semi-Centennial Celebration, and is illustrated by views of the Academy buildings and grounds. Any orders for it sent to W. F. Our full course in the modern languages covers three years, and can be begun with the Fall Term of any year, though the Latin must not be superseded. The Grammar of any language is begun only in the fall.

The study of the Bible, English Composition, and Reading is continued as long as one remains in school. Whether young ladies study a longer, or shorter time, their studies will be assigned according to the judgment of the Principal.

C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Davis Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. At South Hall the pupils in German have the same kind of practice under the guidance of their teacher Fräulein Bodemeyer, of Göttingen, Germany, whose thorough instruction in the German language and literature, combined with her knowledge of English, admirably adapts her to meet the needs of American pupils.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic Piano Recitals by the best artists.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. A few years ago the Trustees imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurements to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies from abroad can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at some one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Davis Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. At South Hall the pupils in German have the same kind of practice under the guidance of their teacher Fräulein Bodemeyer, of Göttingen, Germany, whose thorough instruction in the German language and literature, combined with her knowledge of English, admirably adapts her to meet the needs of American pupils.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic Piano Recitals by the best artists.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. A few years ago the Trustees imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurements to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies from abroad can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at some one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

EXPENSES.

THE WHOLE EXPENSE per year for board and tuition, except for music, drawing, and painting, is $300.00.

BOARD.

Board, at any one of our Halls, including fuel, lights, and washing (ten pieces per week, without starching), and seat in church, is $246.00 per year.

One half the bill for board, is to be paid in advance, the remainder ten days before the close of each term.

No deduction for tuition will be made on account of absence. For protracted absence on account of sickness, one-half the bill for board during that time will be deducted, but no deduction will be made for less than three weeks of continuous absence, except that in case a scholar remains in the school less than half of any term she will be charged at the advanced rate of $12.00 per week for the time of her connection with the school.

Checks in payment of bills should be made payable to the Treasurer.

Books and Stationery can be obtained at the Academy.

Each young lady furnishes her own towels, and table-napkins, and should come provided with a gymnastic suit, thick shoes, rubbers, water-proof, and umbrella.

In providing a carpet, room-mates will arrange as is most convenient to themselves.

Every article of clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name.

Dentistry should be attended to during vacation.

The Teachers will gladly second parents in securing that simplicity of dress which becomes school-girls.

Eatables, with the exception of fruit, sent to members of the school by parents and friends, are not the favor intended. The effect is wholly evil, and friends are therefore earnestly requested to refrain from this mistaken kindness.

COURSE OF STUDY.

A good knowledge of English Grammar, Geography, and Arithmetic is required for admission to Abbot Academy. Applicants will please observe this fact, and come well prepared. Credentials from former teachers will be accepted in place of examinations for studies preceding the Senior Middle Year, if warranted by the scholarship of the pupil here.

The work of the Senior Middle Class is to be done here, unless excused by thorough examination.

It will be noticed that neither credentials nor examinations will be accepted for the studies of the Senior Year.

United States History, with the Constitution of the United States, Physical Geography, Algebra, and Latin Grammar and Reader will be required as preparatory to the regular course, but may be studied in the school.

Our curriculum covers four years; if music be taken, more time must evidently be allowed.

Our full course in the modern languages covers three years, and can be begun with the Fall Term of any year, though the Latin must not be superseded. The Grammar of any language is begun only in the fall.

The study of the Bible, English Composition, and Reading is continued as long as one remains in school. Whether young ladies study a longer or shorter time, their studies will be assigned according to the judgment of the Principal.

BOARD.

Board, at any one of our Halls, including fuel, lights, and washing (ten pieces per week, without starching), and seat in church, is $246.00 per year.

This is divided among the three terms as follows: Fall Term, $100; Winter Term, $80; Summer Term, $66.

One half the bill for board is to be paid in advance, the remainder ten days before the close of each term.

No deduction for tuition will be made on account of absence. For protracted absence on account of sickness, one-half the bill for board during that time will be deducted, but no deduction will be made for less than three weeks of continuous absence, except that in case a scholar remains in the school less than half of any term she will be charged at the advanced rate of $12.00 per week for the time of her connection with the school.

Checks in payment of bills should be made payable to the Treasurer.

Books and Stationery can be obtained at the Academy.

Each young lady furnishes her own towels, and table-napkins, and should come provided with a gymnastic suit, thick shoes, rubbers, water-proof, and umbrella. In providing a carpet, room-mates will arrange as is most convenient to themselves.

Every article of clothing should be distinctly marked with the full name.

Dentistry should be attended to during vacation.

The Teachers will gladly second parents in securing that simplicity of dress which becomes school-girls.

Eatables, with the exception of fruit, sent to members of the school by parents and friends, are not the favor intended. The effect is wholly evil, and friends are therefore earnestly requested to refrain from this mistaken kindness.

Application for admission to membership may be made to Miss Agnes Park, Treasurer of the Association.

ANNUAL READING.

Since 1868, a public Reading has been annually given by pupils in Abbot Academy. After a test-reading, the school elect ten from their own number to receive special elocutionary drill from Prof. Churchill, who instructs the whole school twice in the week during the Summer Term.

It is important that pupils should be present by nine o'clock, A.M., of the first day of every term.

The Baccalaureate to the Class of '90 will be preached at the South Church, Sunday, A.M., June 16, by the Rev. Ezra Brainerd, LL.D., President of Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont.

The Anniversary Address will be given in the same place on Tuesday, A.M. June 17, by Rev. David Gregg, D.D., of Boston, Mass.

COURSE OF STUDY.

A good knowledge of English Grammar, Geography, and Arithmetic is required for admission to Abbot Academy. Applicants will please observe this fact, and come well prepared. Credentials from former teachers will be accepted in place of examinations for studies preceding the Senior Middle Year, if warranted by the scholarship of the pupil here.

The work of the Senior Middle Class is to be done here, unless excused by thorough examination.

It will be noticed that neither credentials nor examinations will be accepted for the studies of the Senior Year.

United States History, with the Constitution of the United States, Physical Geography, Algebra, and Latin Grammar and Reader will be required as preparatory to the regular course, but may be studied in the school.

Our curriculum covers four years; if music be taken, more time must evidently be allowed.

Our full course in the modern languages covers three years, and can be begun with the Fall Term of any year, though the Latin must not be superseded. The Grammar of any language is begun only in the fall.

The study of the Bible, English Composition, and Reading is continued as long as one remains in school. Whether young ladies study a longer or shorter time, their studies will be assigned according to the judgment of the Principal.

C I R C U L A R.

It is our endeavor so to educate girls that they may mature into healthful, cultivated, earnest Christian womanhood.

While we insist on prime attention to the essentials of an education, we are able also to offer superior advantages in music, painting, elocution, and the languages. In French, the instruction of an accomplished American teacher, who has studied the language under choice tuition in Europe, is supplemented by that of Prof. Morand, a French gentleman well known in the best Boston schools as a teacher of the first order, both in tact and culture. Students of French make up a family by themselves at Smith Hall, where most of the conversation of the day is carried on in that language, under the constant care of the French teacher, so that they learn to speak it with fluency and correctness. Although there is not at present a separate hall for the students of German, a portion of the wing of Draper Hall will be given exclusively to the German department, which is under the care of Fräulein Schiefferdecker, a teacher of large experience in Germany and England, who brings to her American pupils the results of thorough study of the German language and literature.

We regard the training in Drawing and Painting as a potent factor in general cultivation, rather than as a mere accomplishment; and this department will be based upon the broadest foundations, in order to develop a true taste, and that close observation of nature which adds so greatly to the happiness as well as to the interest of life. The casts owned by the school, and the collections in the new rooms, will make it possible to thoroughly learn methods of artistic study in accordance with the best systems of foreign instruction. Individual requirements will be consulted as far as consistent with a high artistic standard. The studios will be open daily for pupils' work.

The School has advantages for Elocution which few institutions enjoy. During the Summer Term it receives instruction from Professor Churchill. By the liberality of a former pupil residing in town, special training is given to young ladies elected from the school, for a public annual Reading, which gives an impetus to the study of Elocution throughout the year.

As teacher of the voice, piano, organ, and harmony Professor Downs is an instructor of acknowledged ability. Large numbers of his pupils are to-day filling responsible positions. The new music rooms opening into a large central room make concerted playing possible, and will unquestionably be of great advantage, and add much to the interest of students in this department.

The musical advantages of the school are enriched by an annual series of classic Piano Recitals by the best artists.

Through the courtesy of the other literary institutions in Andover, Abbot Academy enjoys various incidental advantages; while easy access to Boston brings within its reach fine music, the art-museum, and illustrations of science. Classes in Zoölogy, Geology, and Botany are taken by their teachers to visit the Natural History Rooms in the city, or to the Botanical Garden at Cambridge. They have also the advantage of valuable cabinets in Ornithology, Conchology, and Mineralogy, belonging to the Academy. A few years ago the Trustees imported from Paris one of Dr. Auzoux's dissectible models of a woman, which makes the study of Physiology very practical.

A pleasant Reading-room, well furnished with the leading magazines, reviews, and newspapers of the day, is a constant allurements to leisure hours.

Every Saturday is devoted to literary exercises adapted to establish habits of investigation, and to promote general culture.

The friends of the Academy are always welcome at our recitations.

School-girls have little time for general society; but our pupils are at leisure to receive or visit their friends upon Wednesday, which is their recreation day, and out of study-hours, at other times.

The Sabbath will be observed as in any other Christian family. Calls will neither be made nor received upon that day. Unless providentially away, no young lady will be absent from her home here a single Sabbath during the term.

Young ladies can, by early application, find pleasant accommodations at one of our Halls with their teachers, whose care it will be, not only to make them happy, but to cultivate in them ladylike habits.

Draper Hall, to be opened in September, offers ample accommodation to the English pupils. A variety in the arrangement of rooms makes it possible for those who wish to room alone so to do, while pretty suites, of sitting-room and bedroom, the latter furnished with two single beds, two bureaus, etc., are designed for those who prefer roommates. The general library will be removed to this hall. This and the spacious reading-room will be easily accessible to all the members of the school. The studios, the music-rooms, and all the appointments of this new building are signally adapted to secure, in every way, the best results.

Application for admission and board should be made to the Principal, Miss McKeen, and should be accompanied with such information as may be of service in making the best arrangements for the literary, social, and moral welfare of the pupil. Those proposing to make French or German one of their studies are desired to mention it in their letters of application. It should also be stated whether, in case one cannot be received at once, she wishes to be entered as a candidate for a vacancy, such as is liable to occur at any time during the term. In case of a failure after an engagement has been made, information should be given immediately.

No scholar will be received who does not expect to remain through the term. It is very desirable that those who intend to be connected with the Academy for any considerable time should be present consecutive terms. Members of the school must be prompt and regular in their attendance. If absent at the opening of the session, without permission of the Principal, they will forfeit their places.

A report of the general deportment and standing of each scholar in her classes will be sent to her parents or guardian at the end of the term.

EXPENSES.

THE WHOLE EXPENSE per year for Board and Tuition (no extras except for music, drawing, and painting) is $400.00.

Tuition to day scholars, including English branches, Latin, German, French, Gymnastics, Vocal Music in Chorus, Drawing in Class, Lectures, use of Library, per term, $25.00.

It is a record of important incidents in the founding and the growth of the School, embodying recollections of every period, from the beginning to the present time, which have been kindly furnished by former teachers and pupils. It contains a full report of the Semi-Centennial Celebration, and is illustrated by views of the Academy buildings and grounds. Any orders for it sent to W. F. Draper, Publisher, will be promptly attended to. Price, for the edition containing eight illustrations, $3.00 ; with one illustration, $2.00.
